Practical frontier — compression efficiency vs computational effort (measured points only; regions are conceptual)